

ABBOT LABORATORIES, BUILDING AP-14C, NORTH CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

The design of this three-story computer facility responds directly to the master plan for this pharmaceutical company's main campus, Abbott Park. The building meets stringent operational requirements while maintaining the disciplined exterior treatment required for all buildings on the site. The basement level contains mechanical and electrical systems needed to ensure uninterrupted computer operations. The first floor is designed entirely for computer facilities while the second level houses open plan offices.
