

FORSYTHE TECHNOLOGY OFFICE CENTER REDEVELOPMENT, SKOKIE, ILLINOIS

A comprehensive renovation transformed an aging 24,000 square foot industrial building, formerly housing offices, warehouse space, and light manufacturing functions, into a modern office center. Flexibility was the key design objective as the business of this growing computer services company, which specializes in computer leasing and networking, is constantly changing. Design of the interior maximizes the space devoted to flexible workstations which can be easily rearranged.
